"Once a Week" advises the use of paper for filling matresses. "These matresses, when well made, serve as admirable beddings for the sick and infants among the poor, who have often nothing better than sacks filled with shavings to lie upon. They should be made thus: The paper must be torn up into a basket which will not tip over. It must first of all be folded, and then torn toward one's self, in the seams, into strips, each strip should be torn into bits no longer than half a postage stamp. One thing is necessary to be observed in this part of the work—the paper should never be torn double, and each bit must drop separately into the basket. There will be lumps for ever in the pillow or bedding should you neglect this caution." This kind of stuffing is further said to be healthy.

A curious case is about to be tried in Paris. A lady is about to prove in open court that she is not the mother of her children, or rather the children which her husband attributes toher. This matter is to be demonstrated by decisive arguments, the lady herself demanding to plead.
